BE IT REMEMBERED, that at a Probate Court, holden at Middlebury within and for said District, on the 12th day of September A. D. 1838: Present, Hon. SAMUEL SWIFT, Judge.

JOHN M. WEEKS, Guardian of Ephraim C. Weeks, minor heir of Eliakim Weeks late of Salisbury in said District, deceased, represents to this Court that it would be conducive to the interest of said Ward to sell all the real estate belonging to him, being all the real estate lying in Salisbury aforesaid, which he owns as heir of his father and of his mother and brother and sister; and said Guardian moves this Court to authorize and license him to sell the real estate of his Ward, as aforesaid.

PROSPECTUS OF THE BOSTON WEEKLY TIMES.

ABOUT six months have now elapsed since the publication of this sheet was commenced; and though it was then considered an experiment, the result of which, owing to the great competition in the newspaper press, was very doubtful, yet so great has been the voluntary accession of names to the subscription list, that its continuance is now no longer a matter of doubt and uncertainty. The publisher has taken no pains heretofore to force the claims of his paper before the people of New England. Indeed, it is as yet hardly known, away from its immediate vicinity, that such a paper exists. But believing as he does, that it is a publication destined, with proper exertion, to become popular throughout the country, he is induced to take this mode of calling public attention to it.

The Boston Weekly Times is a miscellaneous paper, made up of the reading matter published in the Boston Times (daily) for the entire week, and thus embracing a quantity of original articles and selections, well adapted, it is believed to the taste of the great mass of readers. The Daily Times having nearly tripled the circulation of any daily paper ever published in New England, it is but fair to suppose that the weekly sheet will meet with a corresponding encouragement.

The Boston Weekly Times contains eight large quarto pages to each number, in fine type—thus embracing a quantity of reading matter seldom to be found in a single newspaper sheet.

A comprehensive price current, and occasional notices of the markets—news of the results of all the general and local elections, together with a full compendium of the news of the day—police and other reports—popular tales, poetry, &c. &c.—form the outline of the plan upon which this paper is conducted; and no partial politics will be permitted to interfere with its usefulness, and its general adaptation to the wide public.

The price is two dollars per annum in advance. Postmasters and others who will act as agents, and who actually collect and send the money in advance, can retain one fifth as their commission.

Country papers throughout New England, which will give this two or three insertions, shall receive the daily paper for one year in exchange.

GEO. ROBERTS, Publisher.
